Financial Agent Here.
The Rev. J. E. Morris, D. D., Financial Agent of Wilberforce University, is here in the interest of that institution of learning. Wilberforce is a college for the education of the negro race, and is located at Wilberforce, Green county, Ohio. It was organized in the year 1856, hence is the oldest institution for negro education in this country.

This college has produced some of the brightest lights of the race, such as Bishop Le Roy, Bishop James, and others. The present pastor of the West Side Episcopal Church, A. M. E. Church, is also a product of Wilberforce, having graduated in the class of 1907. Hon. Sullivan Chimes was President of the first board of trustees. The school has 150 students, 350 acres of land, teaches 12 industrial trades and domestic courses, and claims 1000 graduates. Last year they had 76 graduates. The college is highly recommended by President Crawford of the Allegheny College of Meadville, Pa., and President Keller of the Grove City College at Grove City, Pa. Rev. Morris preached two excellent sermons at the West Side Church yesterday.

Easter Services.
Easter services for Easter Sunday were announced yesterday morning from the pulpits of the various churches. In the Methodist Protestant Church special services will be held both morning and evening while in the other churches either the morning or evening services will be in charge of the Sunday School. Appropriate music will be rendered at all the services and the decorations will be in keeping with Easter.

The Trinity Lutheran Sunday School will render a very beautiful cantata entitled "The Life Everlasting." R. O. Chabough is rendering a chorus of 30 voices and from all indications the program will be a very fine one. On Tuesday evening an orchestra of 29 voices will render an Easter cantata in the Christian Church. The affair will be given under the direction of J. L. Rodgers. No admission will be charged and at the conclusion of the program a silver offering will be taken.

With the contests out of the way, full time and attention is being given to the exhibition work. There will be chess, darts, games, apparatus work, tumbling, pyramids, Indian club swinging. The special will be a fencing bout between Physical Director French of the Connelville Y. M. C. A. and Physical Director Adams of the Connelville Y. M. C. A. The first part of the fencing number will be devoted to simple thrusts and parries; this to be followed by regular bout.

Society Renders Fine Program.
A very delightful meeting of the Fricksonian Literary Society of the Dunbar township High School was held Friday afternoon in the High School building at Lakewood, No. 1. A very fine program consisting of essays, recitations and orations was very well carried out. The Fricksonian Searchlight was edited and read by Miss Elizabeth Shorrard.

One of the best features was the debate, the subject of which was "Resolved: That You Can Obtain a Greater Education by Travelling Than by Reading or Study." The debaters were affirmative, Mary Harman, Elsie Donovan and John Sweeney; negative, Mary Henry, Arthur Brown and Mildred Lang. The question was decided in favor of the negative. The next meeting will be held Friday afternoon, April 16.

The display windows and the interior of the store was in gala attire for the occasion and the display of merchandise was a large and attractive one. A color scheme of green and white was handsomely carried out in the decorations which together with the handiwork of the ladies' suits, ladies' waists, etc., presented a scene of great beauty.

THE MODERN WOMAN

Away Ahead of Her Grandmother in Some Things.

When all is said, women of today enjoy a good many privileges. A few years ago the average woman knew nothing of banks or bankers. Today a very large number of women hold the family purse-strings and maintain both checking and savings accounts in their own names. The old time banker frowned when a woman entered his doors. The modern banker welcomes her business. At the First National Bank of Connelville, for instance, every comfort and convenience are provided for women. A special room is fitted up for their exclusive use, and they are cordially invited to use it. This bank has a large number of women customers, especially in its savings department, where 4 per cent interest is paid on all deposits.

TROLLEY AND STEAM ROADS HAVE A CLASH

New Combine Bucks Up Against Old B. & O. at Somerset and Trolleys.

SOMERSET, Pa., April 5.—There were big dollops in local railroad circles. The Somerset Street Railway Company on Friday afternoon installed a crossing over a right of way of the B. & O. on West Sinner street. At midnight a force of B. & O. workmen appeared on the scene, tore up the rails of the street railway company and constructed a siding for the B. & O. This will likely lead to protracted litigation as both companies claim the right of way. A number of years ago the main tracks of the B. & O. were constructed on this right of way, but for several years only a portion of this right of way has been in use, and that as a siding. Last week the B. & O. commenced the construction of an additional siding along this right of way, an already noted in these columns, and expressed their intention of extending their tracks to Race street. The Somerset Street Railway Company, having been granted franchises to construct tracks along several of the streets of the borough, at once installed their crossing directly in the path of the B. & O.'s siding. It is stated that by virtue of legislation the street railway company has the right to cross the right of way of the B. & O., it being used only for a siding and not having been used, even for that purpose, for a long time.

The Somerset Street Railway Company was recently organized and is composed of a number of local business men, among whom are J. A. Berkey, State Commissioner of Banking, Frank B. Pluck, a civil engineer, A. Kent Miller, a real estate broker, and a number of others. Application has been made for a charter.

The purpose of the company is to construct and operate a street railway between Somerset and Rockwood, a distance of 10 miles and at present workmen are engaged in grading and preparing for the laying of the track at Rockwood. The line will follow the road from Rockwood, to Somerset and will enter Somerset along West street, which street it will follow the intersection of this street with Sinner street, where the line will cross to Main street. It is highly probable that proceedings in equity will be instituted at once.

FLOWER POT BURGLAR ALARM IN SCOTSDALE

One Proves Efficient When Sold Bad Burglars With a Ladder Try to Touch William W. Eburg's.

SCOTSDALE, April 5.—That a common burglar makes a good burglar, a burglar alarm that a high priced electrical contraption was shown when enterprising housebreakers put a ladder up to a second story window of the house of William W. Eburg, a well known millworker. There was an ordinary clay pot, containing a flower, sitting on the window sill. When an adventurous burglar had climbed the ladder and was just getting into the window, he awkwardly knocked the flower pot off the window ledge, and the pot and its contents went smashing to the ground, with such a noise of breaking pottery as to scare the thieves away. The crash of the wreck of their plant awakened the family and then they ran to the back porch running away in the darkness. As Easter is coming close nearly any family may now own one of these capable alarms, but care must be taken to set it right to go off when the burglar comes. The "forget-me-not" is not a proper plant to use, since it may cause the attention of the thief to the plant, and then they might forget the place. The "forget-me-not" carries with it a warning and is a good plant to use. Some believe that by planting a border of "elephant ears" around the house to listen for intruders increases the efficiency of the flower pot alarm.

LEAGUE CIRCUIT IS NOW INTACT

Uniontown Comes to the Front with Her $500 Forfeit and All Is Now Lovely.

Uniontown will be in line with a ball team this year as the sports that town have managed to scrape up enough to post their $500 forfeit. The league circuit is now intact and is the same as last year. There is a suspicion that Uniontown wanted some territory and adopted the time-worn "holdout" policy to get it.

The County Seat people have again set up the claim that Brooklyn has named Kruger over to them but this is doubted. An official National League bulletin from Secretary John A. Haydel records the formal release of Kruger from Brooklyn to Holyoke, Mass., and if this is correct, Brooklyn has no more claim now to the Tigra county twirler than any other team in the country.

Manager Sweeney of the Colters is flailing up the available material he wants to report and will have some classy talent for a preliminary trial. Sweeney is confident he will land the Colters in first division.

Gold Dust cleans everything

Don't mar your kettles and pans, or wear them out by such strenuous methods of cleaning as the use of knives, metal scrapers or iron dish rags. Gold Dust affords an easier, a more natural way.

Just add a little Gold Dust to the water—let it soak in for a few moments—and the particles of food and grease clinging to the dish can be easily and quickly washed off.

Kettles last longer, and retain their new appearance for a greater length of time when cleaned with Gold Dust.

JAMES DEWITT HILL DIES SUDDENLY.

Pneumonia Claims Prominent Scottsdale Citizen.

FIRST DEATH IN THE FAMILY

Mrs. Susan Stoner, Former Resident of Alverton, Passes Away—Two Boys Implicated in Church and Are Arrested.

SCOTSDALE, April 5.—The community was shocked at the suddenness with which death came to James DeWitt Hill, Assistant Resident Manager of the United States East Iron Pipe & Foundry Company, at his home on Grove street yesterday afternoon, after a few hours illness from pneumonia. Mr. Hill was taken ill on Saturday morning and physicians were called in. That evening and Sunday morning the physicians visited him again, and yesterday afternoon and saw that pneumonia had fully developed. In the afternoon the patient's powers of resistance were swept away by the disease. Mr. Hill was 58 years old and his death is the first to occur in the family. He was one of Scottsdale's earliest settlers, and was a member of the Borough Council the first year after the borough's incorporation in 1874, and served in a similar capacity and was President of the body at various times afterward. He was also a member of the Board of Education for a number of terms, his last service being as a member from the Second ward, where he completed a term last year. Mr. Hill was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and for many years was a member of the board of Trustees, his business training and ability being of much appreciated value. He was one of the founders of the National Foundry & Pipe works here, and where the firm was absorbed by the United States East Iron Pipe & Foundry Company became Assistant Resident Manager. Surviving him are his widow and five children, Nellie, wife of Walter F. Stauffer; W. Rhodes Hill, connected with the foundry and pipe company; J. D. Hill, Manager of the Scottsdale Automobile Company; Frank W. Hill, a student at Dickinson; and Albert L. Hill, a civil engineer, who is at Douglas, Washington, engaged in the construction of a railroad. The funeral services will be held at the family home on Grove street, Scottsdale, on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and friends are respectfully invited to attend. The interment will be private.

Mrs. Susan Stoner Dead.
Mrs. Susan Stoner died at the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. George Peoples, of North Braddock, with whom she had made her home for several years, on Sunday. The deceased was in her 80th year, and was born in Alverton, then called Stonersville, and spent most of her life there. She is survived by five sons, William of Alverton; Clark of Scottsdale; John of Ruffalo; A. S. of Ligonier, and Jesse Stoner of Knigwood.

Boys Broke into Church.
Clyde Miller and George Winebrenner, both very much under a dozen years, created a dreadful lot of excitement both for themselves and other people, on Saturday afternoon and evening, by breaking into the church and burning the United Presbyterian Church, and with it surrounded being held prisoners until Chief of Police Frank McCudden arrived and marched them to the borough lockup. The boys were discovered in the church when they had been attracted by the tale that some candy had been left over from the Christmas treat and was in danger of spoiling if not used, the manner in which they wrecked the doors of the library case to get at the candy was something horrifying to a lover of woodwork.

TOWN OF SMITHTON RENT.

a return visit to Mrs. Limbaugh, the medium was invited to come along. In this manner Mrs. Steel was introduced to the Spiritual community of the two towns. Mrs. Steel spent only one day there, it is stated, returning home on the evening of the same day, which was about three weeks ago. A number of persons at Jacobs Creek who had lost relatives in the Durr mine went to her for consolation. At Smithton she visited the home of J. O. Williams and his wife, where a meeting or "secession" took place that evening.

Justice of the Peace Joseph Smith of Smithton, one of the old residents of the town, who is interested in Spiritualism, made a statement to a representative of The Courier in which he said:

"The Spiritualists of Smithton are much aggrieved by the charge that has been placed upon them of taking money from persons in return for such things as our mediums were able to do. We have had here for some years a group of persons interested in physical research, but to my knowledge they have never taken one dollar, nor not one cent, for anything they have ever done. They are not in it for money."

Our wives and daughters feel themselves hurt and humiliated by this accusation. We want to be set right before our neighbors and friends. If anyone has taken money for such a thing I have no knowledge of it."

"We have four mediums here in Smithton and I am prepared to have them all four placed under oath and swear that they never received one cent."

"But," interposed the reporter, "if none of the four mediums of whom you speak have received no money, what reason have they to feel aggrieved, as none of them has been named in connection with any such accusation?"

"The four Smithton mediums were charged with doing so," replied the Justice, "and we demand justice." "But three weeks ago or thereabouts there were more than four mediums in Smithton. There were then five," said the reporter.

"She didn't get any money while she was here," replied the Justice. "I will tell you exactly what happened. She came here with Mrs. Carrie Limbaugh who had met her in Pittsburgh and visited at the home of Mrs. J. O. Williams of Smithton. After the meeting a collection was taken up for the visit, to defray her expenses on the trip, but that was all. They saw a quarter or so—some trifling sum."

"Did this woman not receive money from others while she was on her visit?" asked the newspaperman.

"No sir. She didn't get a cent," said Justice Smith positively.

"Well, The Courier has received information that she did tell fortunes, while on her trip and in some instances did receive some money from people," said the reporter.

"Is that so?" replied the Justice, somewhat surprised. "Well, if she did we never heard of it. We will have to run that down and see if there is anything in it."

Mrs. Carrie Limbaugh, when seen in her home at Jacobs Creek by a representative of The Courier said: "Mrs. Steel came to visit me with my sister from Pittsburgh where I first met her. She told me about my husband who was killed in the Durr mine. She said that my husband was not immediately killed but was stunned and came to and that he lived two hours in the mine before he was killed. I did not pay any money to Mrs. Steel."

Some other persons who were interviewed by the representative of The Courier, told different stories, however, as to whether the Pittsburgh medium had taken money. It was asserted positively by several of these persons that they visited Mrs. Steel while she was on her trip to Jacobs Creek and Smithton and that they did pay her money for what she told them. The names of these persons, are of course, in the possession of The Courier, otherwise this positive statement would not be made. It may be added that this information was obtained as the result of a canvass and that there are persons in the two towns named who assert that others in addition paid money to the medium. Most of those who consulted her at Jacobs Creek had friends or relatives who were lost in the Durr mine disaster.

"It is natural for these poor bereaved people to go to a medium to be able to tell of the so-called 'spirit world,'" said a prominent resident of the town. "The loss is still fresh in their memories and it is a common human experience to grasp at such straws of comfort as may be gleaned from an imaginary communication with those who have passed away, particularly when they are taken suddenly and without the least warning, as was the case of the man in the mine explosion. They had no chance to speak one parting word to linger with one last look upon the glowing eyes of their best beloved, the husband, father, son or sweetheart. It is not surprising that these poor, bereaved women would go to a medium, when they heard she could tell them something about their lost ones. Their eagerness to hear could only be matched by the disappointment of their expectations."

Of the four persons in Smithton named as mediums, two are known as communicating mediums, one as a slate writer, and the fourth George W. Torrence, an "inspirational lecturer." Mr. Torrence is postmaster at Smithton. Two members of the Smithton School Board, Jacob R. Hough and T. T. Francis, are Spiritualists. It will be seen that the question of Spiritualism enters into the general social life of the town and is interwoven with the activities of many of its citizens.

One of the leading citizens of the town who is opposed to Spiritualism insofar as it may affect local civic conditions is W. M. Saunders, proprietor of the Hotel Saunders, a member of the Smithton Board of Health and a well known citizen. Mr. Saunders is one of the organizers of the Methodist Bible Class of Smithton. In discussing conditions in the town with a representative of The Courier, Mr. Saunders said:

"I have nothing against any man's religious belief, but matters have gone so far in Smithton that I, in common with other citizens of the town and the neighborhood, have become opposed to the actions of those who term themselves Spiritualists. We do not think that it is a good thing for Smithton that children going to the public schools where they meet other children shall be able to put such liens on the heads of the other children. We do not think it is a good thing for the foreign members of our population who as a rule are excellent citizens, but who can be stirred up by such doctrines in a manner bad for the community. Why, this thing has even crept into ordinary every day relations of the people living here. I went to the Postoffice the other morning to get my mail and said good morning to the Postmaster, who is one of the leading Spiritualists. He asked me if certain things that had been ascribed to me, had been correctly reported, and I told him I was ready to stand behind anything I had ever said. He became very angry and proposed to 'lick me' and then he said:

"I do not know that any of the mediums living in Smithton have ever taken any money for what they did, but the fact cannot be disputed that when a medium did visit here a few weeks ago, many of the poor survivors of the Durr mine disaster ran to the woman to hear what she might tell them and that woman took money from some of these people. She was in the company of the Smithton mediums during part of her trip here and was entertained at one of their homes. She had their moral support and sympathy as far as upholding Spiritualism is concerned."

"We do not want our people to come under such influences, neither will we stand for any attempts at terrorism. Our Methodist Bible Class had Prof. Krebe come to Smithton and lecture and the hall was thrown open to everyone who wished to come. We should be glad to test the other side but thus far, no desire has been shown to furnish us with an opportunity to make such a test as we desire. There have been attempts in Smithton to discriminate against people in business because they did not believe as the Spiritualists believe and because they feel as I do in these matters. There are other people in Smithton, outside of those who profess the Spiritualist belief, who have wives and daughters and families, who have children at tending the public schools. They do not want their children terrorized by ideas strange and uncanny to the mind of a child. "It is entirely proper that those who do not believe as the Spiritualists believe should endeavor to combat such ideas when they are spread generally by means of meetings. I recall one public meeting here held under the auspices of local Spiritualists, and while no admission was charged, a collection was taken up to pay the expenses of the woman lecturer. "I have heard that some children who attended some of the Spiritualistic seances were forbidden to attend any more because they became so nervous that they even feared to go from one room to another by themselves, fearing they would meet 'spirits.' So many stories of this sort have gained currency here that I in common with other citizens feel that we have a right to pay heed to what may be transpiring."

RIVER SALOON CAUSES RIOTING.

Law and Order President Fights Thrilling Duel.

SERIOUSLY WOUNDS OPPONENT

Presence of Houseboat Saloon on Ohio River at Wellsville, O., Causes Fighting in Which Two Men Are Wounded, One Probably Fatally.

Wellsville, O., April 5.—With a representative of the Good Citizens' league behind one telegraph pole and a saloon boat reveler behind another, a pistol battle was fought here in which two members of the boat crowd were wounded, one probably fatally. Two other men were injured in an earlier encounter.

The wounded, William Zoellner of East Liverpool, Ben Davidson of East Liverpool, William Hanoff and Frank Geisse of Wellsville.

Dr. Hamlin Barnes, a dentist, of this city, charged with shooting Zoellner and Davidson, was released on $1,000 bail. Barnes is at the head of the Good Citizens' league and is a well-known temperance advocate.

Both fights occurred along the Ohio river bank, where a gang from Wellsville and East Liverpool was drinking at a houseboat.

A decision handed down by Judge Hiale at Lisbon gave the liquor element the right to sell drink in West Virginia territory sixty feet from the river bank at Wellsville. Accordingly, a boat well supplied was brought from East Liverpool and the bank was lined with men who piled back and forth in skill.

Defends Himself With Knife. When Renoff was passing the place on the railroad track the drinkers, knowing his connection with the league, thought he intended to take the names of the men and have arrests made. Geisse, it is said, knocked Renoff down and beat him. To defend himself Renoff used a knife, slashing at Geisse's face. Both men were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Geisse was locked up, while the other was carried to his home.

Several hours later Dr. Barnes, out for a stroll and ignorant of the first fight, appeared on the track. He was stopped by members of the gang. It is said Zoellner and Davidson were in a party that three women at Dr. Barnes. When the latter made a motion as if to draw a revolver, it is said both Davidson and Zoellner pulled guns and covered the dentist. Dr. Barnes jumped behind a telegraph pole just as a bullet whistled past his head. Zoellner, who was running at Dr. Barnes, was shot through the hip and fell. Davidson then sprang forward and, picking up his wounded confederate's gun, began firing with both it and his own at Dr. Barnes. Barnes had the advantage, however, and to protect himself Davidson got behind another pole.

For several minutes bullets whizzed over Zoellner as he lay on the ground and struck the poles behind which the antagonists were protecting themselves. Half a hundred men watched the fight and did not interfere. After several rounds of cartridges had been fired Davidson was shot in the neck and fell.

Dr. Barnes then went to city hall, where he gave himself up. The wounded men were taken to the hospital. Davidson's condition is critical.

ROOSEVELT CLEARED

Of Charge That He Forced Nomination of Taft For President.

New York, April 5.—The report of the special committee appointed by the National Civil Service Reform league to investigate the matter of political activity on the part of the federal officeholders is made public today. The conclusions of the committee, briefly stated, are that the charges to a great extent are sustained, notable exception is reported in the allegations made during the last campaign to the effect that Mr. Roosevelt coerced certain federal officeholders into the support of Mr. Taft for the Republican nomination.

On the broad question of the pernicious activity in politics of federal officeholders, however, the committee finds that a most undesirable situation exists. Of the more than 300,000 federal officeholders one-third are not amenable to civil service classification. These officers often exercise a powerful influence in politics and constitute, in the opinion of the committee, a menace to free institutions. The remedy is to be found, the committee believes, in an extension of the classified competitive service and a clearer definition of the executive order governing political activity in the classified service.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

Activity in Structural Materials the Feature of the Trade.

New York, April 5.—The most prominent feature in the iron and steel industry continues to be the activity in structural steel, contracts for which have been placed during the last week calling for 38,000 tons of steel shapes and orders are pending for 110,000 tons additional, 75,000 tons being for railroad bridges and tunnels.

Orders and specifications for sheets and tinplates have increased, permitting sheet mills to operate about 60 per cent and tinplate mills about 90 per cent of their capacity. The steel wire season is waning and active mill capacity reduced from 87½ per cent to 77½ per cent, but specifications received by the American Steel and Wire company during March averaged 6,000 tons per day.

Rails have remained quiet, railroads withholding large contracts in anticipation of lower prices, but mill orders during March aggregated 130,000 tons. The total operations of the Steel corporation have been increased to 64 per cent and independent steel companies also have slowly gained.

Handsome Stranger Commits Suicide at Niagara.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 5.—An unknown man about thirty-eight years old committed suicide by jumping into the river from Luna Island in sight of a score of persons, who saw him swept over the falls. He was described as an unusually handsome man weighing about 180 pounds, with black hair and mustache. The authorities hope to establish his identity by means of a child's ring found in one of the pockets of his overcoat, which he left on the bridge. Luna fall is the smallest of the cataracts, but it has never given up its dead.

EXPENSIVE FIRE.

200 Residences and Many Public Buildings Burned at Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 5.—Starting in a barn, presumably from a carelessly thrown cigarette, fire burned over twenty blocks in the residential section of Fort Worth, destroying four churches, over 200 residences and the roundhouse and machine shops of the Texas Pacific railroad. It is impossible to secure estimates of losses and insurance which are in many degrees accurate, for the reason that those who suffered scattered widely seeking shelter wherever they could find it, and it will be a day or two before the full extent of the personal losses are known.

Texas and Pacific railroad officers place the company's loss at a quarter of a million dollars. The loss to church property includes the Broadway Baptist and the Methodist churches, their losses being estimated conservatively at over $200,000.

From Annie street in the south between Jennings and Calhoun streets everything was swept plain to the Texas and Pacific railroad reservation. Here a strip of unoccupied territory about 700 feet wide checked the flames and saved the business section of the city from destruction. The flames were fanned by a stiff wind and all efforts to stay the progress of the damage had been unavailing.

pany of New Jersey, in the United States circuit court today marked the beginning of the end of the government's attempt to prove that the great company is a corporation in restraint of trade within the meaning of the Sherman act.

This is the case which has been prosecuted by the government more than two years and in which hearings have been held in New York, Chicago and other cities. John D. Rockefeller and other big men of the company appeared to tell of its history and dealings. Nineteen typewritten volumes, containing 25,000 pages of testimony and more than 1,500 documentary exhibits, have been filed for the consideration of the judges. They are Judges Adams, Vandewater, Hook and Sanborn.

The government is represented in the suit by Frank B. Kellogg, C. B. Morrison and J. Harrison Graves. For the Standard appear John S. Miller and Moritz Rosenthal of Chicago and Judge Henry Priest of St. Louis.

DOLLY of the CIRCUS

BY MARGARET MAYO

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY DODD, MEAD AND COMPANY

The door shut out the heat, old figure. Douglas stood for some time where Toby had left him, still thinking of his prophetic words. His reverie was broken by the sound of the departing wagons, the low muttered curses of the drivers, the shrieking and roaring of the animals, as the circus train moved up the distant hill. "The show has got to go on," he repeated as he crossed to his study table and seated himself for work in the dim light of the old fashioned lamp. He put out one hand to draw the sheets of his interrupted sermon toward him, but instead it fell upon a small sailor hat. He twisted the hat slightly in his hand, not yet believing the new order of things that was coming into his life. Mandy tipped softly down the stairs. She placed one pudgy forefinger on her lips and rolled her large eyes skyward. "Dat sure am an angel chile straight from heben," she whispered. "She done got a face jes' like a little flower."

"Straight from heaven," Douglas repeated as she crossed softly to the table and picked up the satchel and coat. "You can leave the lamp, Mandy. I must finish tomorrow's sermon."

She turned at the threshold and shook her head rather sadly as she saw the imprint of the day's caros on the young pastor's face. "You must be powerful tired," she said. "No, no; not at all. Good night, Mandy."

She closed the door behind her, and Douglas was alone. He gazed absently at the pages of his unfinished sermon as he tapped his blue pen on the desk. "The show has got to go on," he repeated, and far up the hillside with the slow moving wagons Jim and Toby looked with unseeing eyes into the dim, starlit distance and echoed the thought, "The show has got to go on."

CHAPTER V.
THE church bells were ringing their first warning for the morning service when Mandy peeped into the spare bedroom for the second time and glanced cautiously at the wisp of hair that peeped from a feminine head somewhere between the covers and the little white pillow on the four poster bed. There was no sound from the sleeper, so Mandy ventured across the room on tiptoe and raised the shades. The drooping boughs of autumn foliage lay shimmering against the window panes, and through them might be seen the gray outline of the church. Mandy glanced again toward the bed to make sure that the burst of sunlight had not awakened the invalid, then crossed to a small, rickety chair laden with the discarded fluff of the little circus rider.

"Lawdy aaked!" she cried, holding up a spangled dress admiringly. "Ain't dat beautiful!" she drew near the mirror, attempting to see the reflection of the tinsel and chiffon against her very ample background of ginger hair and aforesaid fluff. "You'd sure be a swell rider wid dat on, honey!" she chuckled to herself. "Wouldn't them deacons holler if dey done see dat?"

The picture of the deacons' astonishment at such a spectacle so grew upon Mandy that she was obliged to cover her generous mouth to stultify her convulsive laughter. It was the little girl in the bed. She crossed to the old fashioned bureau which for many months had stood unused against the wall. The drawer cracked as she opened it to lay away the day, spangled gown.

"It'll be a mighty long time afore she puts on dem things agin," she said, with a doubtful wink of her large, round head.

Then she went back to the chair and picked up Polly's sash and examined the beadwork with a great deal of interest. "Lawdy, lawdy!" she cried as she compared the size of the sash to that of her own rough, worn shoes. She was again upon the point of exploding with laughter as the church bell added a few final and more emphatic clangs to its warning. She turned, with a start, motioning a vain warning out of the window for the bell to be silent, but the little sleeper was already stirring, nestling on her pillow. One soft arm was thrown languidly over her head. The large blue eyes opened and closed shut, almost beside herself with anxiety. "I got to get to the next burg—Wakefield, ain't it? What time is it? Let me alone! Let me go!" she cried, struggling desperately.

The door opened softly, and the young pastor stood looking down at the picture of the frail, white faced child and her black, determined cap.

"Here, here! What's all this about?" he asked in a firm tone, though evidently amused.

"Who are you?" returned the girl as she shoved herself quickly back against the pillows and drew the covers close under her chin, looking at him oddly over their top.

"She done been cuttin' up somethin' awful!" Mandy explained, as she tried to regain enough breath for a new encounter.

"Cutting up? You surprise me, Miss Polly," he said, with mock seriousness. "How do you know I'm Polly?" the little rebel asked, her eyes gleaming large and desperate above the friendly covers.

"If you will be very good and keep very quiet, I will try to talk you," he said as he crossed to the bed.

"I won't be quiet, not for nobody," Polly objected, with a bold disregard of double negatives. "I got to get a move on, if you ain't goin' to help me, you needn't butt in."

"I am afraid I can't help you to go just yet," Douglas replied. He was beginning to perceive that there were tanks before him other than the snapping of Polly's character.

"What are you tryin' to do to me, nuthin'?" she asked as she shot a glance of suspicion from the pastor to Mandy. "What am I up against?"

"Don't you be scared, honey," Mandy reassured her. "You're jes' as safe here as you done been in de circus."

"Safer, we hope," Douglas added. "Are you two bang?" Polly questioned as she turned her head from one side to the other and studied them with a new idea. "Well, you can't get none the best of me. I can get away all right, an' I will too."

She made a desperate effort to put one foot to the floor, but fell back with a cry of pain.

"Dar, dar," Mandy murmured, putting the pillow under the poor, cramped neck and smoothing the tangled hair from Polly's forehead. "You done hurt yoself for snub, dis time."

The pastor had taken a step toward the bed. His look of amusement had changed to one of pity.

went into the ring. "Bingo! Bingo!" he cried. "He kept a-gullin' and a-jerkin' from the start. I got myself together to make the last jump, an' I can't remember no more." Her head drooped, and her eyes closed.

"I wouldn't try just now if I were you," Douglas answered tenderly. "It's my wheel, ain't it?" Polly questioned after a pause.

"SHE DONE BEEN CUTTIN' UP SOMETHIN' AWFUL"

YOUNG WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR LIFE.

Case Against Mrs. Harry Sampson Is Called.

VICTIM ADMIRAL'S NEPHEW

Widow, Who Is Only Twenty-three, Must Face Jury in Lyons, N. Y., on Charge of Shooting Husband After Quarrel.

LYONS, N. Y., April 5.—With the execution of Mrs. Mary Farmer last Monday fresh in the mind of every one, the case of Mrs. Georgia E. Sampson, accused of shooting to death her husband, Harry Sampson, on Nov. 2, 1929, was called for trial today.

It is expected that the procuring of a jury to hear the evidence for and against the young woman will consume much time. Almost every one in Wayne county is acquainted with either the Sampson family or with the Allyn family, to which Mrs. Sampson belongs by birth. The prominence of the two families—Harry Sampson's uncle was the late Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, who commanded the fleet at Santiago, while the Allyn's are among the wealthy folks of this part of the state—has made the alleged murder the principal topic of conversation around the hearths of the county all through the winter. It will be difficult to find twelve men willing to swear that they have formed no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused woman. District Attorney Gilbert is Mrs. Sampson's counsel.

Great interest in the trial. Intense interest in the case extends beyond the limits of the county. The papers of Rochester, which lies in Monroe, the next county to the west, have made special arrangements to cover the trial. The courtroom contains a large number of press representatives from Rochester, Buffalo and other cities.

In the courtroom today Mrs. Sampson preserved the same nonchalant demeanor that has marked her since her arrest. She has declared that her lawyers will prove that Harry Sampson committed suicide after a quarrel with her, despite the damaging testimony that will be adduced against her. Justice Adelbert P. Rich of Auburn presides at the trial.

The shooting of Harry Sampson occurred at Madison, a village about eighteen miles west of Lyons. He was twenty-seven years old and had been married to Georgia Allyn six years. She is now only twenty-three. The young couple lived in a house occupied partly by the family of the wife's parents. Probably it would be more correct to say that the Sampsons lived with the Allyn's. The shooting took place in the Allyn's dining room, and the young man died in a living room used by the two families.

Held Food in Hand as He Died.

The young couple were happy for several years after their marriage. Then, according to the stories told against the wife, she commenced to pay mysterious visits to Rochester and was seen in the gay resorts of that place. The fatal quarrel with her husband followed the receipt by him of a letter addressed to "Miss Allyn." She declares that he killed himself in a fit of jealousy, but her lawyers will have to explain away several strange circumstances. Mrs. Allyn, Georgia's mother, will testify that when her son-in-law fell at her feet, with blood flowing from a mortal wound in the breast inflicted by his own rifle, his right hand held a bit of bread and cheese. After the shooting the rifle was found standing in a corner of the room which was the tragedy, and medical men will declare on the witness stand that the bullet which killed young Sampson ranged downward, as though fired from the stairs down which his wife ran after the report was heard. There were no powder marks on his clothing. Georgia Sampson was indicted on Feb. 3, the grand jury charging her with murder in the first degree. On the following day George Sampson, father of the man whom she is accused of killing, died suddenly of Bright's disease. It is asserted that grief over the shooting hastened his death.

BIG PLANT FOR ASHTABULA

Will Build Ships. Occupy 23 Acres and Employ 3,000 Men.

Cleveland, April 5.—The largest ship-building yard on the Great Lakes, costing more than $1,000,000, covering thirty-five acres of land and giving employment to at least 3,000 men when completed, will soon be built at Ashtabula, O.

Final contracts for the construction work were signed here by A. C. Pessano, president of the Great Lakes and Engineering works, General Manager E. C. Moon of the Lake Shore road, and R. P. Reidenbach, president of the Ashtabula chamber of commerce, representing the city of Ashtabula.

May She Rest in Peace. Conhocton, O., April 5.—Mary Shook, for sixty years a servant in the Pomeroy family, is dead here. Attes Pomeroy of Canton was one of the pallbearers.

Mrs. Modjeska Weaker. Los Angeles, Cal., April 5.—Except that she is becoming gradually weaker there is no change in the condition of Mrs. Helena Modjeska. Artistic scenes are employed to sustain life.

"Merely Mary Ann." In the selection of the present touring company for "Merely Mary Ann" (which, by the way, is the only one legally authorized to play it) the management exercised great care, not only in engaging artists of positive ability, but "types" that fill the visual requirements of the roles and convey to the auditors the best possible effect of the vent characters living their parts on the stage. This commendable and unusual effort insures a grand deal of interest and enjoyment to audiences who care less for "acting" than for realizing true embodiment of character. The moral of "Merely Mary Ann" is pure and uplifting, one feels over so much better after seeing it. The eminent New York divine the Rev. Rollin Howard in a recent sermon was anxious enough to say "Merely Mary Ann" teaches a better lesson than the clergy have ever been able to deliver." The great novelist and dramatist Zangwill is at his best in this play and its real merit fully justifies its remarkable success. "Merely Mary Ann" comes to the Edison Theatre matinee and night, Friday, April 5.

"Paid in Full." Walter P. Eaton, the well known writer on the New York Morning Sun, says of Eugene Walter's play, "Paid in Full," which has been the dramatic sensation of both Chicago and New York, playing for five months in the former city and now being in its second year in the eastern metropolis: "In telling his story Mr. Walter has employed successfully the devices of comedy, of tragedy, of modern realism. The men who accepted and produced this drama are heartily to be congratulated." "Paid in Full" will be seen at the Edison Theatre Tuesday, April 12.

THE CASINO. "The Boston Belles." Next Tuesday, April 6th, "The Boston Belles" make their appearance at the Casino Theatre with a bevy of pretty girls, handsomely gowned, and a host of funny fellows, who guarantee to keep up the interest of the audience during the intervals between the musical numbers and specialties.

MESSAGE TO AMERICA.

Response to Congratulations on His 40th Birthday.

New York, April 5.—General William Booth, whose eightieth birthday is to be celebrated throughout the world next Saturday, has replied to the scores of congratulatory cablegrams with a message to the American people as follows:

"After spending eighty years in this world with almost countless opportunities for observing the purposes for which men generally live and the disappointments they so commonly suffer, it seems reasonable that I should have formed some opinion as to the course they ought to follow if they are to have any real success."

"So on this, my eightieth birthday, I tell the American people this: If they will seek the honor of God, the reign of righteousness, the welfare of the friendless poor, the riches that endure forever, with the same self-sacrificing avidity with which they seek the wealth and pleasures of this world, they will have a good chance of finding that life of satisfaction which now so often eludes them and of building up a pattern nation for the world to imitate."

Undertaker Discovers Murder.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 5.—When Undertaker Clemens of Wellburg, W. Va., was called to Follinsville to prepare the body of Mate Mitzi, a forger, for burial, who he was informed, had died from tuberculosis, he discovered a bullet hole through the man's body.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. Williams, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 30, Gardner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial. This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial. Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

In Choosing Your Easter Apparel It is Necessary That You Select An "Authoritative Style."

Something that will endure throughout the particular season for which it was created.

An expert shopper reports thus: "The best $25 suits I've seen this season."

Full stylish dashing novel skirts, smart new fashioned coats, excellent material, unexcelled tailoring, sounds like high praise. Well, it is high praise and true. Endless variety of styles to choose from, varied and interesting; some in severe fashion where every perfect line of tailoring counts, some richly trimmed where deftness and grace have their effect. Every preference is met in this assortment.

Our Specialty is Tailored Suits at $25.00

During the past three years we have given garments at $25.00 very special attention, not only are the best materials chosen, not only are the most expert tailors alone, entrusted with their making but also every single garment in the collection was examined by an expert, keen for visible and hidden imperfections. None but the perfect in every detail can get into our stocks. That's why these shapeliest garments are bound to retain their shape and give satisfactory wear. You'll readily note the difference between these splendid models and the indifferently designed and carelessly tailored garment often presented for sale at this price.

The leading materials are Prunellas, Bedford Cord, Fancy Worsteds, Plain and Fancy Serges, shown in Revere, Calatuba, Vistaria, Navy and Blue shades, Grey and Taupe; shown in ten distinct styles made in so many different fabrics and with the variations of trimming and different linings.

$25.00

Our style touches you really have to choose between twenty-five or thirty models at this price. Our suits range in price from $15.00 to $25.00 and each suit has the stamp of absolute correctness.

Notable Millinery Modes

A notable ensemble of millinery art will be found in our second floor show rooms—hats that typify in the very highest degree the correct millinery modes of the coming season. While our hats possess a striking individuality and a fashion elegance that is not to be surpassed, they are practical and serviceable and very reasonable in price.

There are hundreds of different hats headdress as the "correct shapes," but the fact of the matter is that the great majority of the styles are created merely to satisfy again individual whim and in the eyes of fashion have no standing. We show only authoritative styles. Styles that will endure throughout the season. You'll feel ill at ease if you buy an indifferently designed hat, every time you wear it you'll be conscious of its lack of real style and correctly designed hats cost no more. We'll prove this fact to you.

The Stetson Hat

The man who has something under his hat is mighty skilled, what kind of a hat he wears. No use for us to talk of "Stetson Quality," you know all about that as well as we. But our display of new Stetsons is notable because of its scope, so many models to try on, and that's really the vital point of hat selling. John Smith's hat would not look good on you, you must suit your own individual looks and there's as much diversity of style here as there is number of shapes. The conservative man will find his hat here. The young fellow home for his Easter vacation will find his snappy little hat with its bright band and flexible rim. It's a hat show that will please ALL men and the prices of course are the same.

Distinctive Clothing for Men

New Spring Models Ready for Service.

By these innovations you may identify them as new models. A little more generous than yesterday. The collar a trifle broader, the lapels a deal longer and there's a decided dip in front. The trousers follow the lines of the coats, faithfully being very full at the hips, narrowing rapidly to the knee, a wide choice of models are ready for the service of the exacting and discerning, all of which define the tendency of new Spring styles. Worsteds promise to be the favored fabrics, though that is a matter of personal choice, since we are ready with all the new weaves. We would be at a loss to find a firm to make clothing better than this of which we're telling. The absolute perfect proportion of these garments and the "clean finish and high character of the fabrics have all contributed to establish this firm at the head of their craft. They are presented in models and sizes for all manner of men. They're priced at Easter Less Than a Week Away How About Shoes?

But none of us buy shoes for just "the day," long after Easter has past you'll be wearing your "Easter low cuts," so you must be critical too, in point of quality. Our Oxfords are bought with the thought that these are other Easter shoes coming. If the Oxford you buy satisfies you, you'll come back for your next pair. It's the "next pair customer" that makes our shoe business profitable. Then, too, there's a host of styles to choose from. All good styles and all good shoes. Every kind of leather, in both men's and women's footwear and by the way we carried over from last season just twelve pairs of Oxfords, so it's almost out of the question to show you styles other than right up to the minute.
